DETAILED ACTION

Upon further consideration, the allowable subject matters as indicated from previous Office Action are withdrawn and new rejection is presented as follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Regarding claim 4, the phrase "assuming" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention.

See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

3. Regarding claim 4, the phrase "i.e." renders the claim(s) indefinite because the claim(s) include(s) elements not actually disclosed (those encompassed by "i.e."), thereby rendering the scope of the claim(s) unascertainable. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

4. Regarding claim 5, the phrase "such as" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention.

See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-5 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hathorn (US 1,908,757) in view of Hattum (US 1,828,235) and Richardson (US 5,927,138).

Hathorn discloses an aeronautical truss comprising an upper chord member 11, a lower chord member 12, diagonal chord members 17-22, chord members 11, 12 17-22 having tubular part and flat part are considered as connection part, and formed from tubular pipe and connected together by rivets 33 through an opening. (See figs. 1-2, 4).

Hathorn does not disclose expressly the chord pipe member having a same diameter by a constrained pattern shaping or flat press, connected to parent plate, a flat section is tapered, a distance between two connection centers of respective flat sections is "1", and that a diameter of a bolt provided on the flat sections between "1" and "d".

Richardson teaches method of forming a structural member from tubular material comprising a strut structure 10 having a tubular portion 12, two plates 20 integrally and continuously forming to tubular portion 12 and flat portion having tapered edge and forming by compressed against opposite faces of the platen 30 of a die 34, bolt opening 50. (See figs. 1-6, abstract, col. 3, lines 36-40), and Hattum further teaches a joint system for tubular frame work having tubular members 5, 6 are connected together at a plate 1 known as a parent plate. (See figs. 1-2).

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify and combine Hathorn's disclosure with Richardson's for the compressed process of forming flat portion, and with Hattum's for a parent plate. The motivation for doing so would have been to provide tighter engagement and more securement for the truss members.

With regards to claim 4, Hathorn, Richardson and Hattum disclose the structural elements for the truss members as stated. Hathorn, Richardson and Hattum do not explicitly teach a distance between two connection centers of respective flat sections is "1" and hold a relationship between "1" and "d", examiner considers this would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to adjust the desirable distant fit into particular application, since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or working ranges involves only routine skill in the art.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Troutner (US 3,496,693), Martens (US 5,802,798), Cook (US 774,159), Buecker (US 6,131,362).
